SONS OF VETERANS WILL ELECT TO-DAY

Three Candidates in Race for the Presidency.

HUNDREDS ATTEND RECEPTION

Quiet Campaign for Change in Administrative Control of Organization-Maine Memorial Association Seeks Co-operation-Change in Constitution Postponed Until 1910.

The big social event of the Sons of Veterans encampment was the reception and ball at the Arlington Hotel last evening. The affair was largely attended and was a brilliant social success. The march was led by Comander-inchief Edgar Allan and Miss Mollie Donaldson, the latter national president of the auxiliary.

Interest in the encampment centers in to-day's sessions, when the three-cornered fight among the Sons for choice of a commander-in-chief will be settled. The candidates put in a busy day yesterday, and last evening politics was the all-absorbing topic among the groups In the corridors.

Few indulged in prophesy on the eve of election, but the result of to-day's ballotting is awaited with anxiety by the candidates and their henchmen. The aspirants are George W. Pollitt, of Paterson, N. J.; Fred Bolton, of Boston, and Newton J. McGuire, of Indianapolis. Auxiliary Fight On.

The auxiliary is not to be outdone by their brethren of the sterner sex, and quently convicted and fined. they have a merry scramble of their own ever the presidency of their organization, Miss Mollie Donaldson, the present head, auxiliary, and her friends expressed conauxiliary, and her friends expressed confidence of victory in discussing the situation last evening. Pitted against Miss Donaldson, is Mrs. Esteila W. Richards, of East Weymouth Heights, Mass.

Proposed amendments to the constitution were discussed yesterday afternoon at length, but no definite action was taken. The committee having the amend-taken. The committee having the amendments under consideration was continued. with instructions to report next year at the annual encampment at Atlantic City.

Last year the committee was instructed to prepare amendments to the constitu-tion. It was yesterday instructed to prepare a new constitution. There was a determined effort on foot for a change in the administrative control of the organization. Under the present system many matters of purely local interest are held until the commander can act. This, say the opponents, tends to retard the growth of the organization and in consequence a quiet campaign for revision has been on for several years. The progressives are confident of ultimate success in their fight.

VAN DEVER OUSTED

Officer Dismissed from Force for Theft of Ham.

TRIAL BOARD GIVES VERDICT

Associates of Accused Man Unable to Explain Motive for Misdeed-Hearing Proved Uninteresting Because of Officer's Absence-Seeks to Elude Friends-May Break Silence To-day.

"Why did he do it?" is the question asked about Policeman Seth Van Dever, of the Seventh precinct, who was yesterday dismissed from the force after being adjudged guilty of stealing a ham by the police trial board.

It was thought the question would be answered by Van Dever himself when he appeared before the trial board, but the policeman was not present at the hearing, and there was no one present to represent the defense. Testimony introduced by the prosecution failed to develop a cause for Van Dever's act.

May Break Silence. It is likely Van Dever will break his silence when he is arraigned in Police Court to-morrow morning to face a charge of housebreaking. He may recite a confession in public and tell why he entered the grocery store in Wisconsin avenue to pillage foodstuffs of small value, his friends say.

Members of the squad at the Seventh precinct, where Van Dever served as a private for three years, are apparently onplussed by the seemingly inevitable juestion, "Why did he do it?"

The final step preparatory to the army experiments with the Wright aeroplane were taken yesterday, when a lease with he owners of College Park, Md., was signed. It is possible the tests will be opened in the next ten days.

The lease was signed by Edwin A. Newman on behalf of the owners of the property, and by Maj. M. Gray Zalinski, quartermaster, for the War Department. The rental is $200 a month, and the lease runs for half a year. College Park is an ideal spot for the
